TODAY'S MEDITATION BEGINS NEW FEATURE

A new feature, Today's Meditation, begins with this issue. Through it readers of this paper will share with millions of people in all parts of the world the same Bible reading, the same meditation, the same prayer, and the same thought for the day.

The meditation published here is the same one used today in the sixteen editions of THE UPPER ROOM which has a world-wide readership. Outside of America, the Japanese is the fastest growing edition.

Each day's meditation is written by a different individual. These writers come from many countries, all denominations, and are engaged in many occupations. Each meditation is designed to present a single gospel truth in devotional style without argument or debate. THE UPPER ROOM, from which these meditations are taken, has the largest circulation ever achieved by a religious periodical. Many thousands of copies of a special edition are furnished chaplains with the armed forces.

The inclusion of this feature is in keeping with the rising interest in religious and spiritual matters in many parts of America.

WALTER E. BARTLETT

Walter Edson Bartlett passed away Friday morning at the Central Maine General Hospital, Lewiston, where he had been a patient a week.

He was born in Bethel Nov. 13, 1874, the son of Henry Edson and Lizzie Coburn Bartlett, and received his education in the local schools and Gould Academy.

For several years he was employed in mills and worked as carpenter and blacksmith for F. J. Tyler. Thirty-five years ago he began selling life insurance in his spare time, and for the past 30 years has carried on a complete insurance business.

Since 1934 Mr. Bartlett has been tax collector of Bethel and the Bethel Village Corporation, in which capacity he has made an excellent record. His conscientious and efficient work has been the pride of his fellow townsmen, who have come to anticipate his sincere greeting and hearty laugh on their visit to his office in his home.

Mr. Bartlett was a member of Bethel Lodge, F. and A. M., and Oxford Bear Lodge, K. of P. On Nov. 30, 1905, he married Miss Grace Mills, who survives. He also leaves a son, Wilbert, of East Hampden; three sisters, Mrs. Blanche Gaw and Miss Elsie Bartlett of Arlington, Mass., and Mrs. Amy Lyon of Rumford; two grandchildren, and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Greenleaf funeral home, the Rev. David Hickland officiating. Interment was in Riverside Cemetery.

MRS. SAMUEL T. SMITH

Alice Kathleen Smith, wife of Samuel T. Smith, died at her home on Bridge Street, early Wednesday morning. She had been ill for several years, a victim of multiple sclerosis, and for the past year, confined wholly to her bed or wheelchair. She was further stricken with a brain paralysis on Sept. 22nd from which she never recovered.

Mrs. Smith was born in Augusta, Maine October 5, 1897, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Chas. P. Dyer of that city. She was a graduate of Cony High School, Augusta, class of 1914, and then attended Kents Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith were united in marriage Nov. 12, 1927, and were blessed with three children, Alice, who died in 1949, Lucia Ellen, now Mrs. Albert Smith of West Bethel, and Tammy at present a senior at Gould Academy. Mrs. Smith is also survived by her husband and a sister, Mrs. Ellen Hayes of St. Peterburg, Fla.

Before her close confinement, Mrs. Smith was an active member of the American Legion Auxiliary at Bethel, and the Bear River Grange at Newry, and will be mourned by a host of friends in the Bethel-Rumford area.

Funeral services will be held at the Greenleaf funeral parlors, Bethel, on Saturday at 2 p. m., with the Rev. Clayton E. Richard officiating.

Gould Wins Opener 14-2

Gould Academy opened its football season Saturday afternoon with a hard-fought victory over a scrappy Mexico High aggregation.

The Huskies, sparked by Johnny Symons, scored midway through the first period, Symons carrying the ball over from the nine-yard marker. Johnson added the seventh point via the placement route.

Neither team threatened seriously in the second and third periods, but with time running out in the final stanza, P. Sweet of Mexico swept around the Gould left end and all but scored from midfield, being forced out on the three-yard line. Gould braced and recovered a Mexico fumble on the goal line. In punting from his end zone, Johnson stepped out of bounds and the Pintos scored an automatic safety.

Gould intercepted a pass soon after the kickoff, however, and on the next play, Symons swept right end for a 35-yard jaunt and his second touchdown. Johnson again booted the ball through the uprights.

The summary: Gould (14) (2) Mexico; Ferguson, re le, Baltara; Bennett, rt lt, Bidden; Patterson, rg lg, Miller; R. Adams, c e, Hebb; F. WHEN A TOWN LOSES ITS RAILROAD

What happens to a town when it loses its railroad?

A very interesting editorial in the Woodstock, Vermont, Standard, answers that question. Years ago the Woodstock railroad was abandoned and, at the time, many people thought it was a good thing and that the town would get along better without it. But here's what the Standard has to say: "It has now been roughly 18 years since Woodstock ceased to have railroad service. With modern highways, passenger cars and trucks, one would say that nothing has been lost but the fascination which is held for us 'old-timers' by railroads."

"Strangely, however, we note on our last newspaper invoice that it cost $33.00 to get three tons of paper shipped from Gattineau, Que., to White River Junction by rail—and roughly $10 to get the paper trucked to Woodstock from the Junction. Obviously, railroads do have some advantages for certain types of freight shipments."

"In spite of all the arguments, we still insist that a town which loses its railroad is in danger of drying up."

The taxes paid by the railroads are one of the biggest and most dependable sources of revenue for town and county and other units of government. The money spent by the railroads for construction and maintenance goes to make business and payrolls in every section of the country. And when it comes to the big hauling jobs, the railroads are in a class by themselves—no other agency can do them so easily, efficiently, and cheaply.

Yes, a town without a railroad really lacks something important.

A black and white cartoon illustration. On the left, a man wearing a suit, a tie, and a fedora-style hat stands and looks towards a young girl. The girl is sitting on a small wooden chair, holding a doll that has a flower on its head. She is wearing a dress with a floral pattern and a large bow in her hair. Between them is a small, low, round table with two small cups on it. In the background, there is a doorway leading to another room. To the left of the doorway is a small table with a vase of flowers on it. On the wall to the right of the doorway is a framed picture. To the right of the girl is a window with vertical blinds and a shelf with some items on it. The drawing is done in a simple, sketchy style with cross-hatching for shading.
